TMS Development International

TMS Development International (TMSDI) offers learning & development professionals an integrated approach to personal, team and organisational development.

We are distributors for a unique set of Profiling tools known as Margerison-McCann Team Management Systems (TMS). The TMS Profiles are based on over 30 years of research into how people operate at work. Detailed personal and team profiling reports provide the focal point for meaningful conversations that link personal and team performance to business success.

We also distribute the Leadership Behaviours Profile from TLS360. This is a powerful and practical multi-rater feedback tool offering a 360-degree review of an individual's leadership performance, including emotional intelligence.

Learn more about these powerful approaches through one of our accreditation programmes. These also give you access to the full range of support services available from the TMSDI team.

Or access Profiles direct with confidential personal feedback from our highly-experienced team.

It's all about the conversation.
